The Race Is On . . . .

As we enter the 105th year of Kentucky State University's existence, we enter a new decade, 1991. As the young stallions prepare to become Thorabreds, the existing Thorabreds are ready to depart. Our departure from KSU leads us into an unpredictable situation.

We, as Thorabreds, face uncertainty and certainty from both the outside and the inside of our world at KSU. Our world, from the outside, is leading to a predicted World War III, leaving many of us unsure of our future and the future of our families and friends who have been sent away to Saudi Arabia to defend our country. Our outside world is uncertain, for now, because of the AIDS virus that is taking the lives of so many people right before our eyes. Just as our outside world is uncertain, in so far as political issues, many of us Thorabreds struggle to do the right thing within our own social lives but often get misled into doing the wrong thing, which is threatening to our future.

While we may be left uncertain of our outside world, our inside world here at KSU is being led into a positive direction of certainty. How will we get there, and who will take us? Our leader, mentor and positivist, President John T. Walfe, Jr., will guide the way. Of course, our inside world here at KSU will face same uncertainties. However, with the positive attitude of President Walfe and many others, we can only keep moving.

Certainty will only come with unity, faith, desire, hope, spirit, and dedication to make the move. How else are we to continue to pass down the opportunities and chances that so many of us Thorabreds have and received through the determination of the many who began this historical black institution.

We will move on.

As the new decade begins, we Thorabreds will line up at the starting line. With certainty, we won't be left behind. The gun has sounded, so the race is on!

Keep On Movin'

Year In Review

August - September

In an effort to make parking more convenient on campus, KSU designated parking areas for the specific use of new freshmen who live on campus, other students, faculty and staff, and visitors.

Kentucky State University's Thorobred Marching Band performed the halftime show for the August 27 NFL "Monday Night Football" game broadcast on ABC television. The game featured the Indianapolis Colts vs. the Philadelphia Eagles.

The Thorobred football team operated under the direction of a new coach and a new system when the 1990 season rolled into action. George James, Jr., a defensive linebacker coach at N.C. A&T, stepped in at KSU following William Head's resignation last December.

Joe Clark came to KSU Sept. 10 at 7 p.m. in Bradford Hall auditorium. He was the principal of New Jersey's Eastside High and sparked Eastside to get back on the right track. Clark was the subject of the Warner Brothers release "Lean on Me," which starred Oscar nominee Morgan Freeman as Joe Clark.

President John T. Wolfe, Jr. stated a need for a more positive image for Kentucky State University at the opening convocation held Aug. 31. He also indicated that his era would be one of civility and decorum for faculty, staff and students alike.

Muhammed Ali, the self-proclaimed "greatest" and former holder of three heavyweight boxing titles, came to his native Kentucky Aug. 27 to donate several pieces of personal memorabilia to the Kentucky Historical Society, which is located in Frankfort. Later that day, Ali came to campus and talked to students and faculty about the Islamic faith he practices.

Kentucky State won its first opener in seven years by defeating Virginia State on the road 37-27 Saturday, Sept. 1 in Coach George James' first game as head coach.

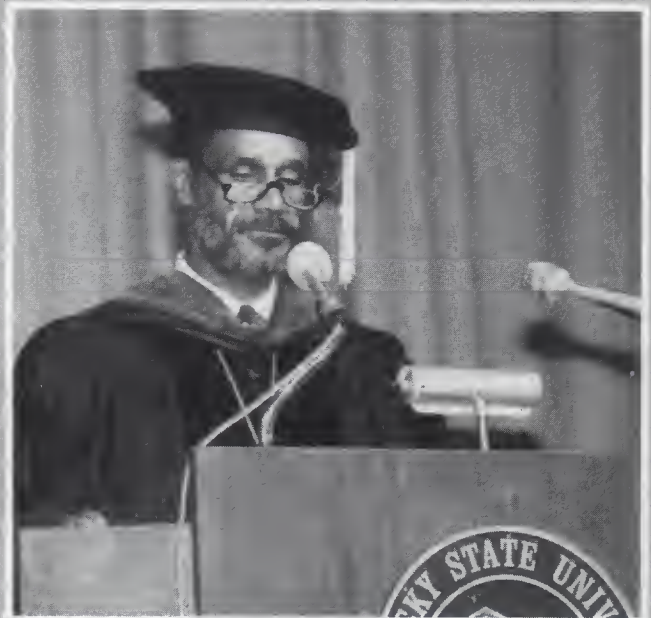

An enrollment increase of more than 10 percent over the '89-'90 academic year was announced at the Sept. 14 KSU Board of Regents meeting by President John Wolfe, Jr. This figure placed KSU No. 1 among the state universities with enrollment increases.

The Morehead State Eagles beat the KSU Thorobreds 35-13 on Sept. 15 at Alumni Stadium's home opener.

The KSU women's volleyball team took the Lady Tigers of Georgetown to the wire on Sept. 11 before succumbing to their opponent 11-15, 17-15, and 10-15 in Bell Gymnasium.

The KSU Cross-Country Team went against Ohio Valley Conference opponents Murray State, Morehead State and Eastern Kentucky on Sept. 15.

Yemi Toure said "Malcolm X Still Lives" at the university's third convocation.

October - November

A variety of events, including a fashion show, musical performances, dances and cultural displays were scheduled for KSU's observance of International Day, "Celebrate Diversity in Cultures," on Friday, October 5, in KSU's Hill Student Center Ballroom.

Harpist and vocalist Harvi Griffin performed at 6 p.m. on October 7 in Bradford Hall Auditorium.

President Wolfe addressed the questions and complaints of residential students during a student body meeting on Monday, Sept. 17 in Bradford Auditorium. Some issues that were addressed were African-American studies as a requirement, freshmen visitation, lack of available parking, the athletic budget and the lack of representation of minorities among the faculty members.

All 28 of the nursing graduates at KSU last May have passed the licensure examination for registered nurses that is given by the National Council of State Boards of Nursing.

Glass artist Stephen Rolfe Powell made a major breakthrough in the Iron Curtain recently when he visited the Soviet Union for two months. Powell, who is a professor at Centre College, was the guest speaker at convocation on "Art and Politics in the Age of Perestroika."

KSU sponsored its annual Career Fair, which involved more than 50 companies and organizations in Bell Gymnasium on October 10 from 9 a.m. to 12 noon and from 1 to 3:30 p.m.

Over the summer, Patricia Griffith, an associate professor of music at KSU, was chosen to participate in an intense four-week piano study program, at the Moscow Conservatory in America. The program, which is patterned after the Moscow Conservatory in Russia, was initiated this summer at Rutgers in New Jersey.

KSU's football team loses to the University of Findlay, 20-19 on Sept. 22.

Kentucky State was awarded four grants amounting to $540,000 by the United States Department of Agriculture.

On Oct. 5 the International Students Association made an International Day presentation to KSU. The event took place in the Student Center Ballroom.

The 1990 Homecoming got on the way. The events provided were a concert featuring M.C. Lyte, Michael Cooper, X-Clan, Angela Winbush and the Isley Brothers, comedian Mark Curry, the crowning of Miss KSU, a jazz concert, Goofy Games and KSU's Gospel Ensemble Extravaganza. Also, the traditional football game, the parade and the step show were also included in the festivities.

Professional speaker Patricia Russell-McCloud, an alumna of KSU, spoke at the convocation Nov. 8 in Bradford Hall Auditorium.

It was announced that the Whitney M. Young, Jr. College would give students a chance to obtain a better understanding of African culture by sponsoring three preceptorials (classes on various topics which differ from semester to semester) which are concentrated on Africa.

K-State's Men's Basketball Team pulled off an upset Saturday, beating Tennessee State 86-83 in the first Annual River City Roundball Classic, played in the Louisville Convention Center. A crowd of 2,267 was in attendance.

The Thorobrettes defeated Clark University in Atlanta with a score of 62-60.

December - January

The KSU Board of Regents backed up President Wolfe, in Dec. defending Wolfe's contract $50,000-plus decorating expenditures as necessary — including a $485 shower curtain.

Dr. Na'im Akbar, a psychologist from Florida State University, set Bradford Hall afire Nov. 29 as he opened the minds of students to the problems and challenges facing African-Americans. His return visit to KSU (he visited last February) was sponsored by SGA.

The office of Student Affairs is organizing a Christmas food and toy drive for underprivileged families in the Frankfort area.

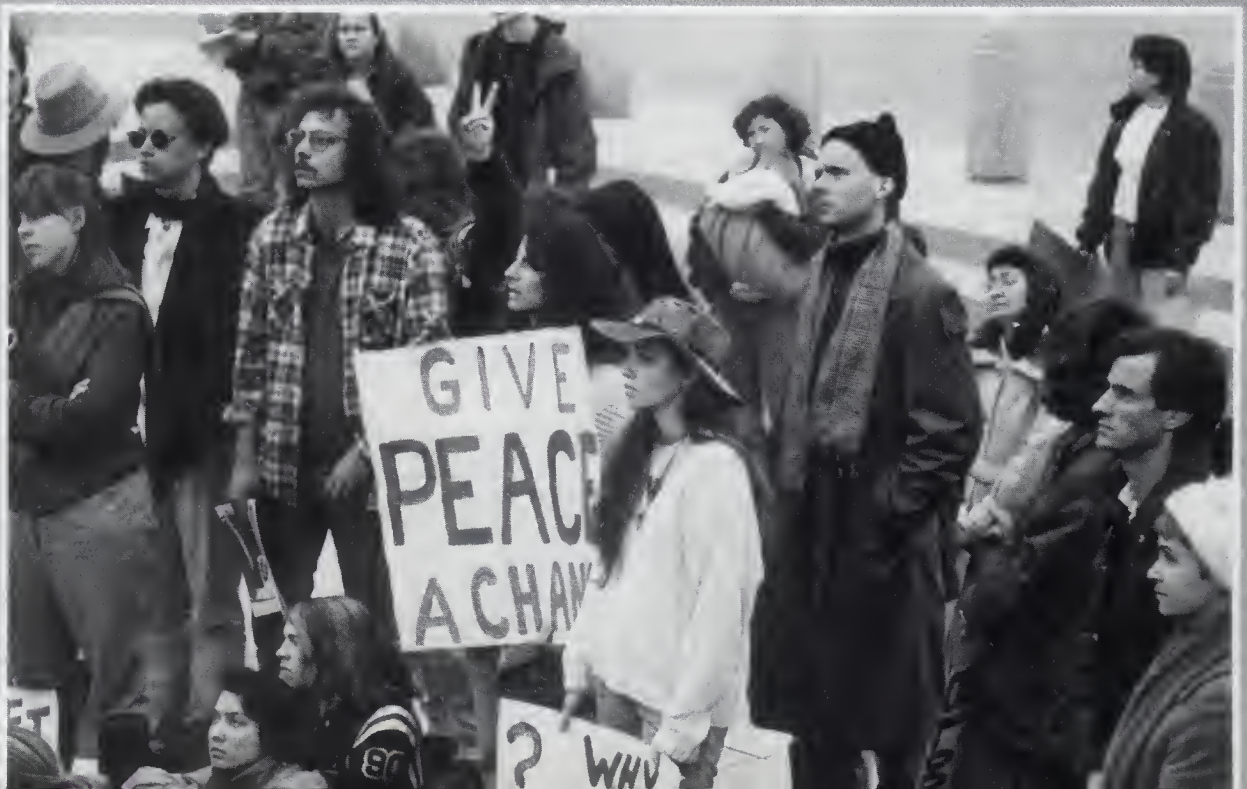

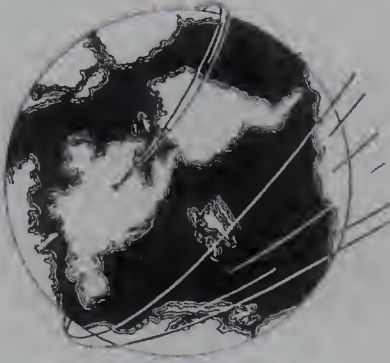

The K-State Dept. of Music recently received a significant honor when two of its primary ensembles, the Kentucky State University Symphonic Band and the KSU concert choir, were selected for formal concert performances at the MENC National Black Music Caucus Professional Conference, to be held in Charlotte, N.C., Feb. 28 - March 3.

KSU was well-represented at the fourth annual Conference on Counseling and Treating People of Colour: An International Perspective, held Nov. 14-17 in Nassau, Bahamas.

Chief of Police at KSU was suspended for allegedly pointing an unloaded revolver in the direction of one of his officers and firing it, Jan. 3.

On Jan. 15, the President of the United States, George Bush declared war against Iraq in response to its invasion of Kuwait.

Faculty, students, military members, both active and retired gathered outside of the Capital on Jan. 17 to discuss their views towards Bush's decision.

February - March

Continuing conflict in the Middle East, coupled with the risk of numerous speculated casualties, has revived the interests of students throughout our nation's campuses regarding the possibility of a draft being reimplemented.

The 1991 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges will include the names of 21 Kentucky State University students who have been selected as national outstanding campus leaders.

Efforts to dismantle apartheid in South Africa centers on writing a new constitution for the country, according to Maree Wesels, vice-consul of the South African Consulate in New York.

Coach William Graham's Thorobreds seemed to come of age with a thrilling come-from-behind victory over St. Joseph's College, 68-66, the "Bred's" second consecutive win.

The world famous Harlem Globetrotters brought their 65 years of magic to the Frankfort Civic Center Jan. 22 to a very receptive crowd.

Alleged bomb scare takes place on campus on Feb. 5.

No Doubt President Wolfe is Definitely for Us.

As President John T. Wolfe Jr. took his position as role model and leader at KSU. Some of us students were having our doubts about the new man on campus. "Where is he", "Why doesn't he mingle with the students", and "Does he care" is what many of us were saying. However, little did we know, this man had been taken care of business from the inside out — eventually working his way to the student body. He has been picking up where others had left off. Straightening out what others had messed up, and focusing on what needed attention.

Soon we students begin to shut our mouths, open our eyes, and take heed to the strong dedicated president — who's all about taking care of business. We were wrong, without a doubt, Wolfe definitely cares for the KSU family.

Student Life

The Kentucky State University students always show an abundant support for their basketball team. Whether it is in the Bell Gym or the Civic Center the students come out with spirit and enthusiasm no matter what the outcome. This is the main ingredient mixed in with the natural abilities of the basketball players which enable them to give 110 percent every game.

The crowd is showing an array of expressions. As some people check the clock, the others watch the game weary of what just has happened in the game. A great emotional tie is connected with the basketball program because of the mutual feeling amongst the staff and students: "United we stand, together we can."

A Time to Give

Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity Inc., shows community effort by sponsoring an annual Blood drive given by the American Red Cross. Numerous of students and faculty came out to give in hopes of saving a life in need.

NEW CHIEF

On March 7 the assistant to the vice president for student affairs John Mason, became acting chief of police for KSU after former Chief George R. Baker was suspended for disorderly conduct.

Mason has been a main police trooper chief of police at Bishop College in Dallas, Texas, and from 1981-84, acting assistant chief of police for KSU.

Outstanding Teacher

The president of the Kentucky Business Education Association, Sharon Boggs, congratulates Leola Travis on her award for outstanding business Teacher of the year.

The New Ph.D. on Campus

Dr. Heville Morgan, the chairperson of the behavioral and social science department earned his doctorate at University of Cincinnati on Dec. 5.

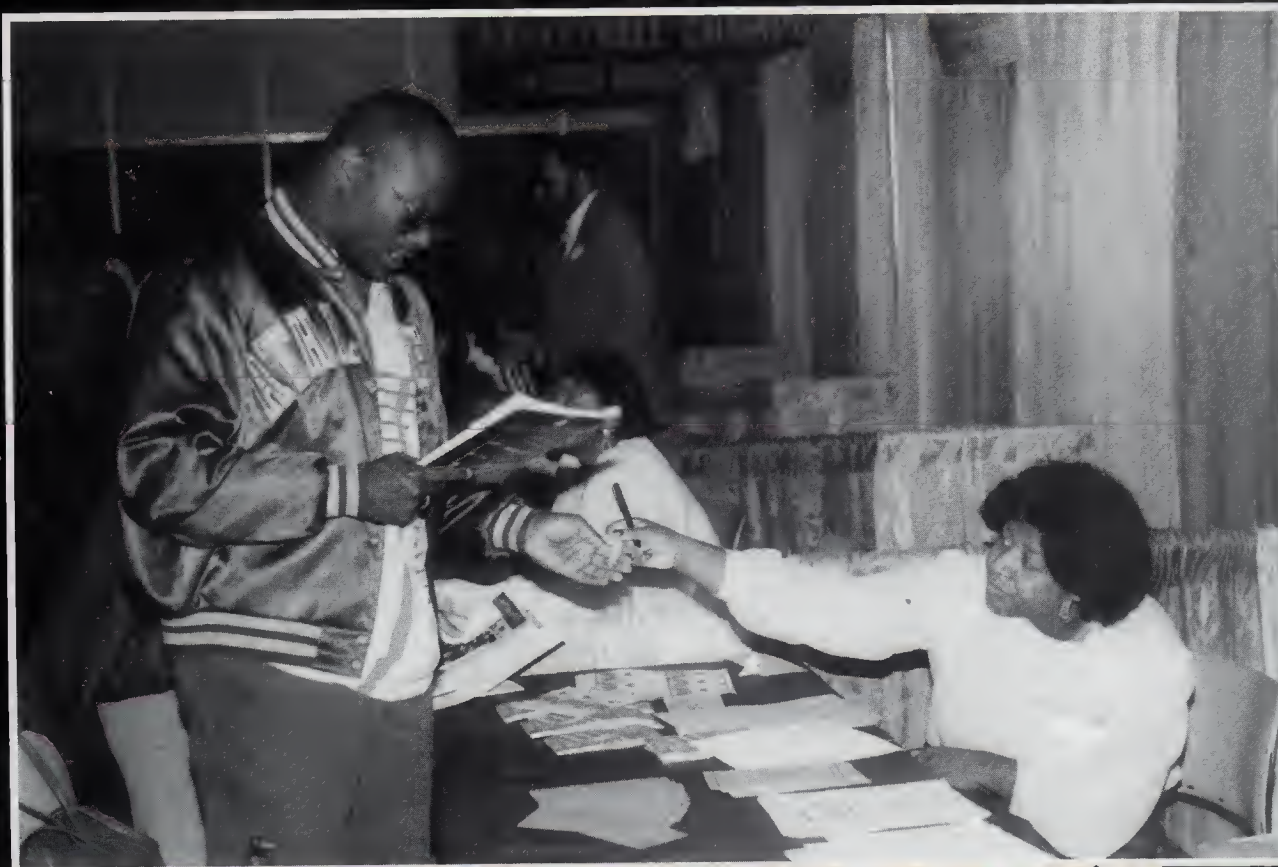

Morgan received his bachelor's degree from St. Francis University in Brooklyn, NY, 1969. He went on to continue his education at Iowa State University and the University of Cincinnati 1974.

Career Fair

About 68 companies turned out for the annual career fair held in the Ball Gym. The turn out was a success for both students and the companies representatives. Some KSU graduates came back as representatives for various companies. This gives many students hope that they can find success in a career and perhaps come back to KSU as a company representative.

KSU pride.

Love it or leave it!

Fun Fest At Its Best

The Court

Jesters

The sounds of "Sweet Georgia Brown" were heard in the background as the Harlem Globetrotters stepped on the floor of the Farnham Dudgeon Civic Center. They would once again face their arch rivals in the Washington Generals. The Globetrotters were not the same bunch from the days of the "Court Jester" Curly and Meadowlark Lemon but they were sufficient.

"The Houdini's of the Hardcourt" or the "Magicians of Basketball" rename the Harlem Globetrotters perfectly. This amazing team is on its 65th anniversary tour giving the whole world a treat. Since their beginning the Globetrotters have had 500 players and the 12 that performed January 29, 1991 were spectacular. The newly crowned "Court Jester" Memphis Michael Douglass and the rest gave the crowd an evening of laughter. They showed their dazzling dribbling, sensational shots, premier passes, devastating dunks, and their widely acclaimed figure eight.

Countries have enjoyed the Harlem Globetrotters since their start in the 1920's. They have gotten attention going from crowds of 300 to a record setting 75,000 at the Olympic Stadium in Berlin. Their style of traveling has improved since their creator Abe's Model T Ford to luxury accommodations.

The fans in Frankfurt welcomed the Globetrotters openly. Their tour will continue as they left some of the crowd drenched with water yet all of the crowd smiling.

Entertainment

Harpist and vocalist Harvi Griffin performed in Bradford Hall on October 7. Griffin, who has entertained at the White House on several occasions, has performed numerous of concerts throughout the U.S., Europe and Asia. He plays a variety of music ranging from an Ava Maria to Carribean folk music to 20th century jazz.

Jane Powell made her second appearance at KSU this year. Again this soul, jazz singer demonstrated great vocal strength and style while performing a variety of pop, reggae and jazz tunes. She was nominated 1989 campus artist of the year and 1989 jazz artist of the year.

Talent of All Kinds

There is an abundance of talent on this campus. Good dancing, singing, acting and music is just a few of many activities taking place on the yard.

Mighty Sinbad

Sinbad, the actor and comedian who portrays the dormitory director and gym teacher, Walter Oakes on NBC's "A Different World"; appeared at Kentucky State University Sunday, March 24, 1991. This appearance was a part of his "Brain Damaged" comedy tour, and was sponsored by Coca-Cola, United Airlines, and KSU's Office of Student Life.

Born in Banton Harbor, Michigan, Sinbad grew up singing, dancing, and telling jokes. At 6 ft 5 in, he accepted a basketball scholarship to the University of Denver, where he played forward and center. His real goal was to be a member of the world-famous "Globe Trotters." A serious knee injury ended those hopes in 1981.

Sinbad began a career as an actor and comedian. His show at KSU packed the Bell Gymnasium and people continued to come with hopes of finding an empty seat. This is when the comedy began, embarrassing the late-comers.

He observed that black people are habitually late for concerts, then get mad that the concerts started on time. Then he spotted William H. Graham Jr., KSU's head basketball coach, and commented on the way his sin was dressed. The audience roared with delight. Of course Sinbad didn't know he had picked on one of KSU's most popular figures. That's what made it so funny.

One of the most surprising things in light of many comedy acts, Sinbad's show was as clean as hilarious. He completed his show without uttering one curse word and very little reference to drugs and sex, which made his performance more delightful.

Sinbad's performance was a success at KSU. Hopefully there will be more concerts of this sort. As the song goes, "It just gets better with time."

What a show!

Daring, courageous, breathing taking are just a few of many words to describe the Chinese Magic revue. The show was filled with exciting acrobatic stunts. The performance took place in the Bradford Hall auditorium Nov. 7.

The Greatest of All Times

Muhammad Ali, the self-proclaimed "greatest" and former holder of three heavyweight boxing titles, came to his native Kentucky Aug. 27 to donate several pieces of personal memorabilia to the Kentucky Historical Society in Frankfort. Ali took time out to stop by K-State and sign autographs, joke with the students and faculty, and talk about the Islamic faith he practices.

Guest Speakers

Dr. Wade Nobles, an experimental social psychologist, published author, and the founder and executive director of the institute for advanced study of Black Family Life and Culture, Inc. gave a presentation on the truth of history Far Right 2 Judith D. Hampton spoke to KSU students on her success on April 11. As a Woodrow Wilson Visiting Fellow, she's participated in a program bringing leaders to campuses to help students understand the social political and economic skills they need for the world outside their campus.

Middle right: Glass artist Stephen Rolfe Powell made a major breakthrough in the Iron Curtain recently when he visited the Soviet Union for two months. Powell who is a professor at Centere College was the guest speaker at the KSU convocation on "Art and Politics in the Age of Perestroika."

Far Left 2. Patricia Russel-McCloud, a KSU Alumna spoke at the Nov. 8 Convocation

Bottom Left 3. Dr. N'im Akbar, a psychologist from Florida State University, set Bradford Hall afire Nov. 29 as he opened the mind of students to the problems and challenges facing African-Americans.

“You can call me crazy Joe, or you can call me BATMAN.”

Batman JOE CLARK demonstrates how he don't take no mess off of nobody when it comes to education.

“If, perchance, you end up being nothing, don't blame the black man. Don't blame the white man. Don't blame your mama. Don't blame your papa. If you end up being nothing, blame your own self. . . !

This was the message that Joe Clark brought to K-State on Sept. 10. Clark, who is an assistant superintendent, spoke to a large audience of students, faculty and guests about his experience of getting rid of vandalism, drugs and violence at Eastside High School in New Jersey. As the principal of the destructive high school, Clark said, he was loud and obnoxious. Clark stated that his way of doing things got the students to respect themselves and others enough to want to try to succeed in life.

After the lecture, Clark showed a clip from an NBC news program called “1989,” which featured some of his exploits at Eastside and prompted Warner Brothers to make the movie “Lean On Me,” starring Oscar Nominee Morgan Freeman as Clark.

Clark stated that anything is possible if you become “the captain of your own ship” and “move expeditiously!”

HOOP, HOOP PARADE

This year's parade was filled with excitement and fervor. The parade had over 20 floats. The parade started at 8:00 a.m. and ended about 10:30 a.m. It started in the ASB parking lot and made its way through downtown Frankfort, where it was greeted by the citizens of Frankfort.

Homecoming Convocation

Dr. C. Vincent Bakeman was the 1990 convocation guest speaker during homecoming. His lecture touched bases on how black youth and adult males are deteriorating as African-Americans progress and that it is up to each individual African-American to change the cycle. Dr. Bakeman also stated statistics involving crime, drugs, and other problems among the black youth.

Senior Marque C. McKinner, president/polemarch of Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity, Inc., awards Dr. C. Vincent Bakeman for outstanding achievement in the areas of public and social services.

Miss KSU

Elisa Nicole Richey

1990

Elisa Nicole Richey has made history. She is the first Miss KSU to display African culture in the traditional Kentucky State University coronation. Miss Richey feels that those of African descent should be proud of their roots and should learn and share their heritage with others.

Richey is the daughter of James and Ruth Richey. She was born in Harrisburg, Penn., on Nov. 3, 1968. Elisa and her family later moved to East Cleveland, Ohio, where she attended elementary school. At an early age Richey was admitted into the S.C.O.P.E. program, which is designed for the "gifted and talented." Richey also took dance lessons at the Cleveland School of Ballet and piano lessons at the Cleveland Music School Settlement. In high school, she was a member of the Shaw High School Marching Band and the Concert Choir.

While at KSU, she is a member of the Concert Choir, the College Music Educator's National Conference and the NAACP. Richey participated in the National Hall of Fame Competition for Black College Campus Queens, where she placed as one of the 10 finalists. She also received the Thelma Johnson Piano Award and the Anna Margaret Riggins Cash Scholarship Award.

Majoring in Music, Richey's goal in life is to not only continue to grow spiritually and mentally but to share her God-given talents with others who may not have had the same opportunities. She plans to open up a cultural arts center in her hometown that will emphasize African culture and values.

"The riches in life are not the material things, but knowledge, love, strength and truth, which are all much better than any man's gold," says Richey.

"From the time we are born till the time we die, we are constantly in motion with our lives. Time never stands still; therefore, we must do all that we can in the ways that we can to strive towards the betterment of all mankind."

Felice Re Che Parron First Attendant

Miss Felice Re Che Parron is a biology major minoring in physical education from Detroit, Mich. Her parents are Frances and Clarence Parron.

Parron is the founder and president of the KSU Golden Girls Dance Corps. She is a member of Tau Beta Sigma sorority for band women, of which she is vice president, and she belongs to Thundering Thorobred Express Band. Her goals in life are to practice sports medicine while pursuing a doctorate in veterinary medicine.

With all this, her greatest love is the Lord. She says, "Without the Lord in my life, I wouldn't have anything. He has truly blessed my life."

Rhonda Calhoun Second Attendant

Miss Rhonda Calhoun is also a biology major who is from Chicago, Ill. Her parents are Rufus and Annette Howard Calhoun.

Calhoun, who is a student athletic trainer, has been on the National Dean's list and KSU Dean's List. She participated in the Whitney M. Young, Jr. College of Leadership Studies program and is a member of the Society of Distinguished Collegiate Americans, Knights of the Round Table Commission, NAACP, Pan-Hellenic Council, and Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, as well as MBRS (Minorities of Bio-medical Research Support).

The Many Faces Of Coronation

Hail to the Queen . . .

The 1990 coronation was one that will never be forgotten. The coronation began with intricate African dance. Then the royalty entered, and later the ladies in waiting and the attendants to Miss KSU made a dramatic entrance. Miss KSU stopped the show with her very masculine escorts and her beautiful attire.

The Night to Remember

The Kentucky State University homecoming concert was a huge success. The concert lasted six and a half hours and was filled with excitement and laughter. The concert had various types of entertainment for the public. It had the comedy talents of Mark Curry, who got the concert kicking with laughter. Then came the Black Flames, a multi-talented R&B group. Next came Michael Cooper, a singer and songwriter, who has a very live band. Then came M.C. Lyte, one of the best female rappers today. Following her came the hottest rap group, X-Clan, whose 1st album, "To the East Blackwards," sold more than 500,000 copies. Next came Angela Winbush, a beautiful songstress who still looks good and can entertain with the best of them. The night was concluded by one of the oldest groups in the music industry, Ronald Isley and the Isley Brothers. They made the concert more mature and something the alumni and fans could really enjoy.

Michael Cooper gave the crowd an early treat for the homecoming concert without any tricks. He came there to display his musical ability and did so beautifully, "Over and Over." He sang songs from the past like "Prove My Love to You," then brought us to present times with his hit song "My Baby's House."

X-CLAN came, they saw and they rocked the Civic Center. The red, the black, and the green was the inspiration as Grand Verbalizer told what time it was. The crowd was hyped as they sang their dope release "Heed the Word of the Brother."

Very,
Very,
BLACK!

Better Lyte than never was the crowd's response to the tardiness of M.C. Lyte. She was worth the wait as she enlightened the crowd with "Cha Cha Cha" and made them "Stop, Look and Listen" to her fresh lyrics and funky dance steps.

Women left carrying a torch in their hearts for the Black Flames. They came to the Civic Center with their new songs and had the crowd in an uproar. Their releases "Dance with Me" and "Watching You" had a lasting effect upon the crowd.

The Many Faces of Mr. Mark Curry and Friends

K-State needed something to pick up its homecoming spirits and received something more. Mark Curry headlined a list of comedians who kept us laughing the whole night. Don G. brought her feminine ways to the stage and put a KSU student in check. Mark showed his zaniness and wild antics that brought him many laughs. He had the crowd laughing hysterically.

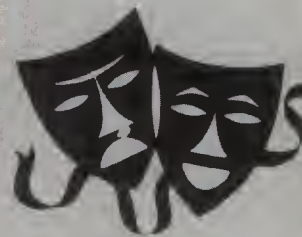

"These aren't my kids! They're Bay Bay's kids."

"Let me be the first to say that some men are dogs."

Comedian: "Do you guys have anything to say?" Students: "Yes, we would like to say, 'peace!'"

Football

It was nothing but the dog in these Thorobreds as they took the field. They huddled up to decide on a plan of action against the Mars Hill Lions. As the finger was held in the air symbolizing No. 1, it would be the defense that would bark up the right tree to score the 1st touchdown of the game. This sparked the crowd to get up and cheer.

At the top left, this Thoroughbred came galloping down the field with strength and determination. His defensive adversary had other thoughts in mind as they would soon collide.

Quarterback Don Catlett wore the significant number 6 on his chest. As he surveyed the crowd, he stood a general leading his troops into battle. The pressure would be on but they would still stride on to victory.

Oh Well, Back to the Beginning!

The new decade starts the reformation of the Kentucky State Thorobreds. Coach George James, Jr. plans to build the Thorobreds back up to a great team. Time is the only factor that the coach has on his side. Their 1990 season's 2-7 record was simply the planted seed as Coach James adds the water.

This young team won their season opener against Virginia State by an amazing 37-27. The Thorobreds' other victory came at the dismay of Mars Hill College.

So far, the team's recognition has been established by the defense. In games such as one against Mars Hill and University of Findley it was their defense that kept them in the game. With the strength of the defense and improvement of the offense, it is only a matter of time before success. Experience is gained by each player throughout his encounters with opposing teams, which will help in the future.

This is only the beginning of Coach James' master plan. What lies in the future for the Thorobreds is up to their will and determination. Their future is lined with green and gold on a path to success.

Although the 1990-91 season wasn't a great one, the Thoro-breds did have their moments in the spotlight to shine.

Cross Country

Although they had only one senior on each team, Thorobred/Thorobrette cross-country Coach David Boyd and Assistant Coach Sam Smith were very optimistic. Boyd saw great talent coming into the season and was proven right. The teams were very competitive in both the regular season and the GLVC.

Women's Basketball

Kentucky State University's women's basketball team continued in the doldrums this year, recording 3 wins and 25 losses. High points of the season were when the Thorobrettes eased by Clark-Atlanta on Nov. 23, clobbered Knoxville on Dec. 5 and trounced Southern Indiana on Feb. 2. The Thorobreds also very nearly upset Kentucky Wesleyan on Feb. 4.

Men's Basketball

They obtained the same record as last year, 9 wins and 19 losses, but the Thorobreds this year moved up one notch in conference ranking, from 9th to 8th. Not only this, says Coach William H. Graham, Jr. The Thorobreds had a much more difficult playing schedule this year.

Highlights from the year included the game against Tennessee State, when the Thorobreds knocked off their opponents 86 to 83. "Normally, when a Division II team plays a Division I (team), you're not expected to win," says Graham. Another highlight involved the Thorobreds twice defeating Lewis University, which beat many power teams in the conference.

The Kentucky State University Softball team have been struggling through hard times. Although, they are in the process of rebuilding the program, they have been plagued with injuries. During the 91 season they were up against top ranked schools in Division II, and although they were not always victorious they beat their record from the previous year.

Prominent positions such as pitcher and catcher were lacking. Junior pitcher Pamela Bracy and Freshman pitcher transfer Rochella Mister, were consistent on the mound but time took its toll. Catcher, Nicole Hawkins was injured during the last half of the season, and Freshman transfer Janette Shelton was no allowed to play due to NCAA transfer regulations.

With the return of Melanie Thomas, Erica Hendricks, Rochella Mister, and Cordona Black, and several new recruits, they're hoping '92 will be a successful year.

Men's and women's track Coach David Boyd boasts that this year his team was the exceptional athletic team on KSU's campus. Eleven students qualified to compete in the national championships. Amid top athletes, Masai Troutman placed third in the long jump, the 1600-meter relay team placed ninth and the 400-meter relay team placed 10th.

The men's tennis team had a poor spring season in terms of its overall record, but Coach Carolyn Walker nonetheless calls team play "very exciting" and "very competitive." She points out, "We had a lot of guys to win a lot of matches."

Playing in the fall, the women's tennis team only recorded one win, but Coach Carolyn Walker says the young team will improve. "In the future, I think they'll definitely be a lot more competitive," she says.

Just Move Something

°We Thoroughbreds are always trying to move something. Whether it's moving a pencil in cramming for a test or moving our butts to the sound of a beat, we have the power to make things happen.

Commencement

With all the traditional pomp and circumstance, KSU awarded master's, bachelor's and associate degrees to some 220 graduating students at its 102nd spring commencement.

Dr. Howard L. Simmons, the commencement speaker, urged the students to reach for humanitarian goals. . . . Together, all of us can strive to set life goals that include not only those related to our self-interests or to earning a livelihood or accumulating more and more creature comforts," Simmons stated.

The smiling faces of these international students are a reminder that Kentucky State University seeks unity in diversity.

ALMA MATER

*by Frederick Jarmon, '43
Music arranged by Harriet Newhouse,
'44*

*Hail to our Alma Mater
Dear is her name
And there shall be no other,
To surpass her fame
Hers is the hand that guides us
Day after day
And She will stand beside us
When we go on our way.*

*Sing every voice together
Let echoes rise,
Hail to our Alma Mater,
Shout to the skies.
Holding the torch of freedom
As she marches along*

*May blessings be upon Her
Shepherd of Youth;
She holds the seat of honor
In the hall of truth.
Mem'ries of Her shall never
Fade from our hearts,
And we will praise Her ever
For the love She imparts.*

Putting in an Effort

Dear Students,

It has been a pleasure serving as Editor-in-Chief of the 1990-91 Thorobred. Although there was a lack of participation from the staff and some doubt that there would be a 1990-91 annual, many people came through in contributing to this book.

I hope that in the future many of you students who have the experience and interest in working on the Thorobred would come out and put forth an effort. Your participation is vital. Thank You.
